

Advance Information

Ireland in the European Eye

Editors: Bettina Migge, Gisela Holfter

Publication date: June 2019

Extent: 518

Format: Paperback, illustrated

Rights: Worldwide

ISBN: 978-1-911479-02-4

Publisher: Royal Irish Academy

Price: €25 / £28 / $50

www.ria.ie/ireland-european-eye

A comprehensive survey of Ireland's place in Europe, providing a detailed narrative of a cultural relationship that began with Irish missionaries bringing Christianity and learning to the continent. How have Ireland and her people and culture been perceived and represented in Europe? Twenty-two internationally renowned experts address this question through contributions on film, music, art, architecture, media, literature and European Studies.

With contributions from: David Clark, Fiorenzo Fantaccini, Anna Fattori, Joachim Fischer, Paul Gillespie, Anne Karhio, Linda King, Joanna Kosmalka, Marieke Krajenbrink, Brigid Laffan, Fergal Lenehan, Caoimhín Mac Giolla Léith, Edward Moxon-Browne, Lynda Mulvin, Anna Ní Ghallachair, Éamon Ó Ciosáin, Thomas O'Connor, Mervyn O'Driscoll, Finola O'Kane, Harry White.

About the editors:

Gisela Holfter is Senior Lecturer in German and Joint Director of the Centre for Irish–German Studies at the University of Limerick.

Bettina Migge is Professor of Linguistics and Head of the School of Languages, Cultures and Linguistics in University College Dublin.