DÁIL ÉIREANN: THE FIRST 100 YEARS, 1919–2019

11 December 2018

The Royal Irish Academy (“RIA”), together with the Houses of the Oireachtas Commission (“Commission”) (the statutory body responsible for parliamentary administration) welcome you to a Conference “Dáil Éireann: The First 100 years, 1919-2019”. This will be held in the RIA’s premises at 19 Dawson Street, Dublin 2, on 11 December 2018. Booking is being organized on behalf of the RIA via Eventbrite Inc. under contract. The Conference will consist of a number of panel discussions, each followed by a question and answer session. Tickets cost €20.00, subject to concessions. You may get further information about the conference here and register for the event by clicking on the following link. In registering for this event, you accept the terms and conditions of attendance, including as to data protection and copyright as set out below.

DATA PROTECTION AND COPYRIGHT

Personal information, such as your identity, email, ticket category, and payment details is gathered about you during your booking, and is also gathered when you attend. This is held securely in accordance with applicable laws regarding personal information by Eventbrite on behalf of the RIA, and on the RIA’s servers, and will also be shared between the RIA and the Commission. Eventbrite’s privacy policy may be found here.

The RIA has agreed with the Commission to take principal responsibility for compliance with the law about dealing with your personal information. You have a number of rights about how the RIA and the Commission deal with the personal information they get about you in relation to this Conference and booking for it, for example, you may ask for a copy of the personal information, or to object to the RIA’s or Commission’s continuing to deal with it. The RIA and the Commission have agreed that they will each secure these rights to you, always subject to any qualifications in the law protecting personal information. For further information see the RIA’s Transparency Notice and the Commission’s website privacy notice. These privacy notices also contain contact details of the RIA’s and Commission’s Data Protection Officers.

The entire Conference will be audiovisually recorded on behalf of the Commission. In booking your attendance and attending, you accept that

- your image and voice or either of them may be recorded at a public event and is intended for public broadcast and being made available on the Internet
- if using this information involves the processing of “special category data” (for which see our privacy notices), eg because you are recorded expressing a political opinion, you are willingly and knowingly making that expression of opinion public
- neither the RIA nor the Commission can control the further use that may be made of your information beyond the limits of the media in question.

The Commission may use this publicly available information for its own educational, promotional, and publicity purposes.

The RIA will use personal contact information supplied when booking to contact you closer to the event date with a reminder and additional details; the RIA will further contact you to seek your feedback post event.

In booking and attending, you accept that Commission is the sole owner of all copyright and other rights in the audiovisual recording and retains final editorial, technical and artistic control of the content; you further discharge and hold exempt the RIA and the Commission and each of them, its licensees, successors, and assigns, from any and all claims, demands, or causes of action in the nature of privacy, the right to publicity, infringement of copyright or other intellectual property right, or any similar right; moreover, you accept that you are not entitled to any form of royalty or other payment by reason of booking and/or attending this event.
