

GUIDELINES FOR AUTHORS ON JOURNAL STYLE

Irish Studies in International Affairs

I. GENERAL

Papers should be presented in double spaced 12pt font (Times or Times New Roman). Please follow the structure of a standard research paper, using the heading styles noted below.

Please supply text, tables, images and captions as separate files. Do not embed images in the body of your text.

Papers should be preceded by a short, introductory Abstract—maximum 150 words—outlining the main points of the paper. Abstracts should not contain references.

Only two levels of subheading should be used in the body of the paper, in the following styles:

INTRODUCTION

The Cold War

Figure and table captions should be formatted as follows:

Fig. 1. Text follows here

Table 1. Text follows here

Please supply a short title for the paper (no more than 45 characters long) that can be used as a running head.

The journal uses footnote referencing style; see item 7 below.

2. CAPITALISATION

PLEASE SEE THE SEPARATE DOCUMENT ON CAPITALISATION, BUT NOTE THESE GENERAL POINTS

The journal style is minimal capitalisation: as a rule of thumb, initial capitals are used only for proper nouns or to avoid ambiguity.

Here are examples of words (in context) that should not have an initial capital letter: ‘the state coffers’, ‘the Irish government’, ‘the British prime minister announced’, ‘the minister for regulatory affairs, Áine McMahon, said’, ‘a general election was called’, ‘the summit was viewed as...’, ‘the nationalist community’, ‘the Irish army participated’.

Here are some examples of words (in context) that should have an initial capital letter: ‘in March President Obama stated’, but Republican (as in the political party in the US) grassroots’, ‘the Department of Finance estimated’, ‘a Cabinet decision’, ‘the Water Pollution Act (2011) prohibited’, ‘the UN Security Council ruled’.

3. QUOTATIONS

Please ensure that all quoted material is exactly as in the source, including capitalisation and punctuation. Use '[sic]' to indicate a misspelling or other significant mistake in the source.

Short quotations (up to two or three lines) should be left in the main text and enclosed in single quotation marks. Any quotes within these quotes should be enclosed in double quotation marks. If the quote does not include an entire sentence, punctuation should follow the closing quotation mark.

Long quotations (more than three lines) should be displayed, without quotation marks. Any quotes within these quotes should be enclosed in single quotation marks.

4. ABBREVIATIONS

There is a list of common abbreviations (and acronyms) at the back of the journal. These can be used without explanation in individual papers.

Other abbreviations can be used for convenience, but remember that there is no need to introduce an abbreviation for a term that occurs only once in a paper. Abbreviations not included in the list mentioned above should be spelled out on first mention; e.g. 'in 2000 total official development assistance (ODA) reached...'

Treat the abstract and the main text of the paper as separate entities with regard to the spelling out of abbreviations, i.e. an abbreviation should be spelled out at first mention in both the abstract and the main text.

5. HYPHENATION

As a general rule, hyphenate an adjectival compound of two or more words that precedes a noun: 'confidence-building measures', 'a high-level delegation', 'the Washington-based correspondent'.

Adjectival compounds of which the first word is an adverb that ends in 'ly', however, should not be hyphenated: 'a politically motivated attack'.

As a general rule, do not hyphenate an adjectival compound of two or more words that follows a noun: 'the author is well known', 'the initiative was government funded'.

In general, hyphenate prefixes such as 'socio-', 'ethno-', 'politico-', 'post-', 'pre-', 'anti-', 'non-', 'cross-', 'counter-', 'pro-'.

Hyphenate compound nouns of this form: 'asylum-seekers', 'decision-makers', 'opinion-formers'.

6. SPELLING

PLEASE SEE THE SEPARATE DOCUMENT ON CAPITALISATION, WHICH ALSO INCLUDES A SPECIFIC WORD LIST, BUT NOTE THE FOLLOWING GENERAL POINTS

Use 'British English' rather than 'American English' spelling, e.g. 'centre', 'favour', 'travelled'.

Use the 'is' spelling in stead of the 'iz' spelling where there are variant options, e.g. 'generalise', 'organisation'.

Refer to the New Oxford Dictionary of English on other spelling matters.

7. FOOTNOTE REFERENCES

Please note especially:

Spell out authors' forenames in full in preference to one initial only.

Give page spans of all articles/chapters.

In titles other than journal or series titles (in which all significant words should have an initial capital letter), only the initial letter of the first word and of proper nouns should be capitalised.

Books and articles

First citations of books and articles should conform with these examples:

Jennifer Todd, Identity change after conflict. Ethnicity, boundaries and belonging in the two Irelands (London, 2018).

Anne Barrington, 'From marriage bar to gender equality: the experiences of women in Ireland's Department of Foreign Affairs, 1970–2000', in Jennifer A. Cassidy (ed.), Gender and diplomacy (London, 2018), 48–64.

Ben Tonra, Michael Kennedy, John Doyle and Noel Dorr (eds), Irish foreign policy (1st edn, Dublin, 2012).

Michael Kennedy, 'Irish foreign policy, 1919 to 1973', in Thomas Bartlett (ed.), Cambridge History of Ireland (5 vols), vol. 4, 1880 to the present (Cambridge, 2018), 604–38.

Frances Stewart, 'Overcoming short-termism: incorporating future generations into current decision-making', Irish Studies in International Affairs 31 (2020), 1–17: 12.

Shantanu Chakrabarti, 'Global South rhetoric in India's policy projection', Third World Quarterly 38 (8) (2017), 1909–20.

Luwam Dirar, 'Rethinking the concept of colonialism in Bandung and its African Union aftermath', in Luis Eslava, Michael Fakhri and Vasuki Nesiah (eds), Bandung, global history and international law (1st edn, Cambridge, 2017), 355–66: 361.

Ronan McGreevy, 'Questions around Irish unity referendum to be examined in new initiative', The Irish Times, 11 January 2021.

Second and subsequent citations of books and articles should be in short-title form:

Todd, Identity change after conflict, 14, 75.

Chakrabarti, 'Global South rhetoric', 31.

If the short title is not self-explanatory, please use '(hereafter cited as XXX)'.

Theses

A.J. Wilson, 'Irish-America and the Ulster conflict, 1968–1985' (unpublished PhD thesis, Loyola University of Chicago, 1991), 17.

Dáil debates

Dáil debates, vol. 184, cols 734, 1018, 1284 (9, 16 and 17 December 1960).

National Archives

First citation:

National Archives of Ireland, Department of Foreign Affairs (hereafter cited as NAI DFA), 305/57/15, minutes of a meeting of the interdepartmental ERP Committee, 12 June 1948.

Subsequent citations:

NAI DFA 305/57/15, 8.

Online documents

Reference to online documents should be avoided if published print versions of the relevant texts exist. If an online document must be cited, transcribe the URL carefully, and give the date on which the document was accessed.

Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade, 'Ireland and Scotland publish bilateral review of future relationship', press release, 14 January 2021, available at: <https://www.dfa.ie/news-and-media/press-releases/press-release-archive/2021/january/ireland-and-scotland-publish-bilateral-review-of-future-relationship.php> (22 January 2021).