

RIA Reprography Price List

The library facilitates requests for photocopying, printing, scanning, photography and microfilming provided that the items are judged copiable (i.e. not vulnerable to damage) and the requests are in accordance with copyright regulations. Order forms are available as hard copies from the library or as a word document from our website. The library reserves the right to refuse to copy certain items. Manuscripts may not be photocopied or scanned.

Readers may take their own photographs free of charge if the item is copiable (see above) and on condition that they sign a form declaring that the material photographed is for the purposes of research or private study only. Forms are available as hard copy or online from our website and should be completed and signed by the librarian on duty before any photography is undertaken.
