

Contents

List of figures	vii
List of tables	viii
About the authors	ix
Foreword
Patrick Honohan	xi
Introduction
Austerity in Ireland: a debate
Niamh Moore-Cherry, John McHale and Emma Heffernan	1
Part 1: Austerity as concept and practice
1. A general theory of austerity
Simon Wren-Lewis	17
2. Why austerity?
John McHale	37
3. The ideological project of austerity experts
Kieran Allen	53
4. Irish media coverage of the housing bubble and austerity
Julien Mercille	67
Part 2: Experiencing austerity
5. Austerity in the European periphery: the Irish experience
Niamh Hardiman, Spyros Blavoukos, Sebastian Dellepiane Avellaneda and George Pagoulatos	83
6. Austerity and inequality in Ireland
Christopher T. Whelan and Brian Nolan	100
7. Austerity, resistance and social protest in Ireland: movement outcomes
Niamh Hourigan	115

8. Housing and austerity: a two-way street
Ronan Lyons	129
9. Poverty and risk: the impact of austerity on vulnerable females in Dublin's inner city
Emma Heffernan	144
10. Child poverty in a period of austerity
Dorothy Watson, Bertrand Maitre, Christopher T. Whelan and James Williams	157
11. Resilience: a high price for survival? The impact of austerity on Irish higher education, South and North
Rosalind Pritchard and Maria Slowey	175
12. Migration patterns, experiences and consequences in an age of austerity
Mary Gilmartin	191
13. The austerity myth: parenting and the new thrift culture in contemporary Ireland
Fiona Murphy	204

Part 3: Beyond austerity? From crisis to recovery

14. Ireland's recovery: explanation, potential and pitfalls
Seán Ó Riain	219
15. Resources available for public services: how does Ireland compare now and how to prepare for the future?
Seamus Coffey	235
16. Towards an inclusive and just recovery
Seán Healy	255
Conclusion: progressing debates on austerity in Ireland
John McHale, Niamh Moore-Cherry and Emma Heffernan	270
Appendices	281
Bibliography	310
Index	334